MECHANICSBURG

COUNCILMAN HAS HIS OWN TROUBLE

R. J. Wilson's Vote Would Kill Bridge Proposition First Thing.

Now Have Six Lights and Two Policemen.

DEMAND HE CHANGE ABOUT

Councilman R. J. Wilson, of Mechanicsburg, is having his troubles today, since his vote to amend the license ordinance, has come to the ears of his constituency. It is all on account of the relation of the license ordinance to the apportionment ordinance, which carries an appropriation for a permanent bridge over Island creek.

When the apportionment ordinance was drawn the $10,000 for the first installment of the bridge fund was placed in a department by itself and considered the last. The declaration was plainly made, and if there should be a shrinkage in the city revenue from any source, the bridge fund should be taken care of last, and should not receive any money until everything else was satisfied.

The apportionment provides for the use of every cent of estimated revenue from the license ordinance, and the proposed amendment for which Councilman Wilson voted, would cut out not only the $10,000 for the bridge, but several other important improvements.

What Mechanicsburg Gets.

One late Mechanicsburg citizen said this morning: "All that Mechanicsburg gets out of the bridge fund is the privilege of paying ad valorem taxes to the city of Paducah at a half dozen lights and two policemen. For a quarter of a century our people have been demanding a good bridge over Island creek, so we could have street cars, and so that property interests over here could be assured of permanent connections with the main part of the city. This is the first year that our prayers have been heard at the city hall, and anything like a genuine step taken to give us a bridge. Now to have our own councilman vote to turn us down on this proposition is about all human nature can stand. We certainly hope he voted under a misapprehension, and will vote with us when the matter comes up for action in the lower board."

Finance Committee Acts.

By a vote of four to two, the finance committee of the general council last night voted to recommend that City Treasurer J. J. Dorlan be paid his salary for the month. By unanimous vote the committee recommended that no salary be paid the city license inspector and physician until it was ascertained who legally hold those offices. Marketmaster Clark was granted his salary for January.

Bank Clearings.

New York, Jan. 30.—Total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet's for the principal cities in the United States the past week were $2,858,326,000 against $2,893,436,000 in the corresponding period last year.

HOME OF THE FRIENDLESS THANKS THOSE WHO HELP.

The board of lady managers of the Home of the Friendless desires to return thanks to the following generous donors: Paducah Traction company, for lights and street car tickets; Paducah Water company, for water; German Lutheran Sewing society, for barrel of flour; E. W. Bookman, for coffee; Mrs. George Ochsenschlaeger, Sr., for two baskets of provisions and $5.

WEATHER.

FAIR.

Fair and continued cold with brisk northwest winds tonight and Sunday. Highest temperature yesterday, 38; lowest today, 9. Snowfall 2 1/2 inches.

Carmack-Cooper Affair.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 30.—A number of threatening letters were received by the principals in the Cooper trial. It is feared it means a state-wide feud will follow a verdict. A movement is on foot to call a meeting of the leading men of the state to prevent this. Mrs. Carmack says enough sorrow has followed the killing of her husband without other tragedies.

Coast of Morocco Had Earthquake and Landslide That Overwhelmed Several Towns and Brought Death

Barcelona, Spain, and Other Towns Felt Slight Shock, But Suffered Little Damage—Reports Greatly Exaggerated.

Madrid, Jan. 30.—Reports at noon show that early stories of the quake were greatly exaggerated. In the province of Murcia villages and towns felt slight quakes and some walls fell. No fatalities are reported. Serious damage is reported from Ceuta and Itanara, Spanish towns on the north Moroccan coast, where a landslide followed a quake and it is believed many were killed.

Madrid, Jan. 30.—Barcelona escaped the earthquake and tidal wave, which was reported early today to have swept part of Spain. Telegraph communication with Barcelona was restored after an hour's anxious waiting here. It was reported the city had been destroyed. The government has ordered Barcelona authorities to find out the extent of the earthquake.

London Reports.

London, Jan. 30.—A special dispatch received here from San Sebastian, Spain, says a terrible earthquake has devastated several towns and villages in south and southeastern Spain.

A tidal wave partially submerged the coast near Barcelona and a great landslide at Ceuta buried the village of Roma and several hundred inhabitants.

News from Malaga says that many houses were damaged in the town of Totana and several villages in the province of Murcia.

A dispatch from Tarragona says that Barcelona has been overwhelmed by a tidal wave. The loss of life is unknown. Subterranean roarings preceded the tidal wave, causing a fearful panic among the people on the promenade and in buildings in the city.

Romana Not in Spain.

Paris, Jan. 30.—Neither the newspapers nor Havas's agency have received any news of the reported earthquake and tidal wave in Spain. Itanara, the village mentioned as being buried in the special dispatches to London, is not in Spain, but in Africa, fifty miles south of Ceuta.

FLORA CLARK YOUNG

WILL BE BURIED TUESDAY IN OAK GROVE.

Funeral of Young Actress Will Take Place in the Grace Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Flora Clark Young, who died suddenly at Denver, Thursday morning, will be brought to this city tomorrow evening at 7:35 o'clock. The body will be taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. S. H. Clark, 901 Clay street. The exact time of the funeral has not been set and will not till after tomorrow evening. The funeral will be held at the Grace Episcopal church Tuesday. The Rev. David C. Wright, rector of the church will have charge of the funeral services. The burial will be at Oak Grove cemetery.

A telegram has been received from Mr. James A. Young from Winnipeg, Manitoba, saying he had started for Paducah. It is not known when he will reach here.

Mr. H. H. Clough, of Regina, B. C., has telegraphed that he was on his way but was snow-bound in North Dakota. It will be Monday night before he can get here. Nothing further has been received from Mrs. Clough, but there are grave fears that her train may be detained somewhere in the blizzard now raging.

Republic's Crew Sails.

New York, Jan. 30.—The crew of the wrecked Republic sailed this morning for Liverpool on the Baltic.

COLD IS GENERAL; BLIZZARD RAGING ALL OVER NORTH

The cold weather is causing suffering. Charity club, Fourth street and Kentucky avenue. Rescue mission, 431 Trimble street. Salvation Army, 222 Tennessee street.

Clad in a mantle of white Paducah was kept in doors last night and awoke this morning to find a regular blizzard ruling with a despot's hand. Snow that fell from 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon until about 10 o'clock last night was on the ground and a stiff wind from the northwest fulfilled every prediction of the weatherman of a cold wave. It was the coldest night Paducah has experienced this winter, for the official thermometer dropped to 9 degrees above zero, the coldest this year by two points. The highest registered yesterday was 39 degrees. The snowfall was 2 1/2 inches. Fair and cold weather is predicted for tonight and Sunday with brisk northwest winds.

Fight for Wires.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Yesterday was one long fight by the telephone and railroad companies to restore wires and rescue stalled trains. Early in the day all roads sent out warnings to employees ordering them to prepare for blizzards. No freight trains were running last night in the storm belt of Iowa, and few in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The St. Paul road reported that practically all their wires were down. Their limited train from the Pacific coast due here at noon was nine hours late getting into Marion, Iowa. On the Minnesota division a freight train was stalled and passenger trains are held up behind it.

Passenger Train Lost.

Another train—a passenger with neither diner nor sleeper—was reported missing from La Crosse, as was another train which started to its relief. The best information obtainable at La Crosse was that both trains were stuck in the snow at South Dakota.

At the general offices here no news was received concerning the wanderers. That the passengers would suffer from cold and lack of food was taken for granted.

Madison, Wis., was one of the cities cut off from the outside world. The wind and sleet cut communication in every direction.

Last night the telephone companies had succeeded in patching up a service north and west in sections where it had been abandoned during the day. Further loss of wires to other points in the storm path, however, was feared.

Damage in Iowa.

Burlington, Ia., Jan. 30.—A blizzard prevails in southwestern Iowa. No trains are running on the branch lines of the Burlington system and main line trains are delayed. Much damage has been done to trees and outbuildings by the high winds.

Poles Broken Down.

Janetville, Wis., Jan. 30.—Owing to the severe snow and wind storm all wire connections in western and central Wisconsin are demoralized. Telegraph poles are broken down.

Chicago Blocked.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—The snowstorm and cold are traveling eastward today. The extreme cold wave forecast for Ohio and eastern states. Snow blocks the streets here. A gale is blowing.

Killed by Train.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 30.—Robert McCormick, policeman, was blown from a porch and fatally hurt. At Madison, Ill., Edwin Mikesell, blind, by the snow, failed to notice an approaching train, and was ground to death under the locomotive.

New York Suffers.

New York, Jan. 30.—A blizzard and drifting fall of snow are sweeping New York today and threaten to interfere with traffic.

Snow Plows Powerless.

Denver, Jan. 30.—A rain, snow and sleet storm, accompanied by wind of almost cyclonic violence, swept over Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska last night. In the mountains of Colorado the snow was so deep and packed so hard that even the big rotary plows are powerless.

HEATH IS AFTER HIGH SCHOOL IF IT IS TO BE BUILT

But Representative Thinks Consolidation With City High Preferable.

A. P. Hill Says People Are to be Considered.

NO BOARD MEETING TODAY

Cold weather prevented a meeting of the county school trustees this morning, and the question of building a separate county high school or co-operating with the city high school will remain in the balance until another attempt will be made to have the meeting. It will be next week, and possibly two weeks before County School Superintendent S. J. Billington, who is chairman of the board, will call a meeting. Most of the trustees reside in the county, two as far as 20 miles, and the blizzard was too strong to face.

The weather was a factor in preventing a large attendance, but Trustees W. R. Davis and P. A. Bagwell, and Superintendent Billington were present. Two trustees were lacking to make a quorum. Representatives were present from Lone Oak, Arcadia and Heath, seeking the location of the school, as well as Superintendent J. A. Carnegie, who had planned to explain the feasibility of co-operating with the city high school.

Heath in Fight.

It developed today that Heath, which is eleven miles from Paducah on the Illinois Central railroad, is in the fight for the location should the board decide on a separate high school in the county. Mr. A. P. Hill, of Heath, was at the court house, and was ready to present to the trustees the proposition of the citizens of Heath to donate a site of eight acres with a guaranteed bonus of $2,000, and possibly a large fund.

In speaking of the proposition for Heath, Mr. Hill said: "First it is our belief that the county high school should be consolidated with the city high school, where the county graduates may receive good training from the start, for a period of two years, at the least. In the meanwhile a fund could be raised by the county, and then a separate county high school could be built if good results were not obtained. This, I believe, is the consensus of opinion of the farmers and residents of the central part of the county, for I have been driving for two weeks and consulting them."

"Should the trustees decide to build a school, and ignore the benefits offered by the city school, every effort will be made by the citizens of Heath to have the school located there. Our advantages are that it is a healthful location and is the only location considered that has a railroad. Heath is as near the center of the county as could be desired, and therefore would be more accessible than the other locations. Besides being convenient from all parts of the county, Grahamville and Lamont are about one mile distant, and these three towns in the county certainly would contribute more pupils than if the school were located in other parts of the county. Today there are three county school graduates taking the examination for a diploma."

"We are not after any positions, but only justice for all parts of the county, as only the residents of the county must bear the expense of the county high school. No one institution would be benefited more than all the citizens by the placing of the school at Heath, as the donations have been subscribed by citizens alone, and would be a benefit to the citizens."

The World's Work.

The World's Work for February has a splendid picture of Governor Willson and an article on the night riders by E. A. Jones, of Henderson.

In the same town Charles Jackson was swept from his feet by the gale and fell so heavily that his neck was broken. Near Venice, Ill., two children and their mother, Mrs. Frank Cawell, were mortally injured when a tree was blown upon a tent under which they were sleeping.

New York Suffers.

New York, Jan. 30.—A blizzard and drifting fall of snow are sweeping New York today and threaten to interfere with traffic.

Snow Plows Powerless.

Denver, Jan. 30.—A rain, snow and sleet storm, accompanied by wind of almost cyclonic violence, swept over Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska last night. In the mountains of Colorado the snow was so deep and packed so hard that even the big rotary plows are powerless.

BIG HAT BOX.

Probably one of the largest hat boxes ever built was made yesterday by the Fooks Lumber company for Marie Straub, a vaudeville performer. This young woman has an extreme Merry Widow hat, and has had difficulty in protecting it. The box is 45 inches long, 40 inches wide and has a depth of 18 inches. The box was built of cypress, and an inch thick. The box was constructed to contain only one hat, which is a favorite of the actress.

Hits Congress

Madison, Wis., Jan. 30.—The leading editorial in La Follette's magazine this week censures congress for failing to do some work the president is trying to do. It says the attack on the president is an indictment of the congressmen. They are jealous of Roosevelt's popular favor. They are taking the wrong way to gain favor for themselves.

Cheney Are Buried.

New Haven, Conn. Jan. 30.—Consul Cheney and wife were buried today. Although there was a blinding snowstorm, a long procession followed them to the grave. Italian societies took part.

Downey Infant Dies.

The eight-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Downey, of Maxon Mills, died this morning at 4 o'clock after a two weeks' illness of pneumonia. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the residence. The burial will be in the Palestine cemetery.

ENGINEERS ABOUT READY TO MAKE THEIR CONTRACT.

Mr. E. T. King, of Broadway, representative of the Paducah division, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, on the board, which is preparing to treat with the Illinois Central railroad for the next two years' contract, will return to Chicago Monday, to complete his work. The board is almost ready to submit its proposition to the road, which will be done next week.

Gomez in Danger

Havana, Jan. 30.—President Gomez was urged today to end the dispute that had arisen between himself and the Zayas faction of liberals. It is feared the end of the second administration may come suddenly.

Inspect Canal

Panama, Jan. 30.—W. H. Taft, Mr. Goethal and a party of engineers left their special train today to investigate the engineering problems of the canal. They will inspect the Pacific slope locks, the foundation of which is said to be insufficient. They will return to Panama this afternoon, where Taft will be the guest of honor at a reception by President Obaldia.

BANK CLEARINGS REACH LEVEL OF 1907 AND BUSINESS RETURNS TO NORMAL

Bank clearings . . . $845,609.

Clearings at the bank this week were up to normal of two years ago, $645,669, and counter business with the banks was again active. The fore part of the week, and up to yesterday, tobacco receipts were quite large and a large volume of money was poured into trade channels through this source. The cold weather of the past two days will put a stop to the rumble of the wagons with the weed. Business with local wholesalers the past week have been satisfactory. Dry goods houses and grocers report better conditions than a year ago in the selling

TWO SERVICES

Will be held at Third Street Church each day.

Revival Will Start Tomorrow, With the Rev. E. C. Dees, of Calvert City, and Chorus Choir.

The revival at the Third Street Methodist church will start tomorrow morning. The Rev. E. C. Dees, of Calvert City, will assist the Rev. T. J. Owen, the pastor, and a chorus choir of fifty voices has been in training. Services will be held every day at 2:30 and 7:30.

The board of health has issued an order that all school children must be vaccinated before they return to school Tuesday.

MAY WALSTON, DAUGHTER OF U. S. WALSTON PROBABLY FATALLY BURNED AT HOME

Flannel Gown Ignites While She is Dressing and She Inhales Flames Before She Can be Rescued.

LITTLE GIRL AND MOTHER BOTH RECEIVE SERIOUS INJURIES BEFORE BLAZING GOWN CAN BE TORN OFF.

Greatest Danger is From Possible Pneumonia Resulting From Internal Burns—Is Only Ten Years Old.

Little Mrs. May Walston, the 10-year-old daughter of former School Trustee U. S. Walston, of Eleventh and Jones streets, probably was fatally burned this morning when her night dress caught fire from an open grate. Both hands and arms, her chest, neck and face were burned by the flames as the most danger is feared from the flames that she inhaled. Her mother was in the room and was at her side in a minute, and her hands were burned in beating out the flames. She was resting well this morning, but the exact seriousness of her burns cannot be told. If pneumonia does not develop from the flames she inhaled there is a chance of her recovery.

About 6 o'clock this morning the girl bounded out of bed and ran quickly to the grate fire in the room. Her night dress was of flannel, and owing to the cold weather she crowded near the fire. She turned around to get her clothes and the night dress caught fire. The flame crept up her back in a second and she screamed for help. Her mother rushed to her aid, and succeeded in tearing off the blazing gown. Not before the fire had burned the girl and singed her hair. Dr. J. W. Pendley was called and dressed the burns.

PARENTS CONTEST FOR POSSESSION OF THEIR CHILD

Habeas corpus proceedings were heard this morning by Circuit Judge William Reed for the possession of Nell DeVaughn, Jr., 2 1/2 years old. The proceedings were taken out yesterday by Nell DeVaughn, who alleged that his wife, Esther Ruth DeVaughn, is incompetent to properly care for the child. He asked that the child be turned over to him, but pending a thorough examination of the evidence Judge Reed ordered that the child be kept by the Home of the Friendless. County Judge Lightfoot also ordered the mother sent to the Home of the Friendless.

DeVaughn is a but cleaner and he and his wife came to Paducah about four months ago. They were married in Fayette county July 15, 1905, and separated January 26, this morning DeVaughn filed suit for divorce in circuit court, and it is said that a cross petition will be filed this afternoon by the wife.

The Magnolia Circle, Woodmen of the World, will entertain their members with a pie supper at their hall February 5, 1909.

A "fence" well filled with stolen articles from the Illinois Central railroad was located yesterday afternoon by Detective T. J. Moore and J. D. King, special officer for the railroad. The home of Henry J. King, a negro brakeman, on "Pump" keti Hill, was invaded and crates of eggs, shoes and other articles that have been missed from shipments were found. King was given a warning word and escaped arrest. The negro had some articles hidden between the walls of rooms.

In the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The omnibus claims bill carrying $3,000,000, which has been favorably acted upon by the house, was passed by the senate with an amendment repealing the law allowing the reference of Spanish war claims to the court of claims by the senate or house. The substitute bill for all pending measures relating to the enlistment of soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment who were discharged without honor following the Brownsville shooting up, was introduced by Aldrich and accepted by Foraker and other Republican senators, who had proposed legislation for the same purpose. It provides for a court of inquiry to pass upon the qualifications of the discharged men who re-enlist.

Civil Term of Court

Monday the civil term of court will begin and the lawyers and court officials will be busy for the next few weeks. Monday will be spent in arranging preliminaries, and Circuit Judge William Reed will call the docket, and set the cases for trial. The first part of the term of eight weeks will be utilized in trying the damage suits and other suits in which juries are used. The highest suit that will be up for trial during the term is the suit to throw the Planters' Protective association into the hands of a receiver.

Street Car Accident

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Twelve passengers were severely hurt this morning when a car plunged over a 150 foot embankment. Motorman Mulligan probably will die.

The Week In Society.

FOR THIS ONE DAY.

For this one day—
Grant us sight to see the road
Creep plainly, on our winding way
Grant us strength to bear the load,
For this one day.

For this one day—
Guide our feet the road along,
Let not our weary footsteps stray;
Give us to lift a stave of song,
For this one day.

For this one day—
Let us not see the mud beneath,
But know the gold above the grey
And smell the wind upon the
heath,
For this one day.

For this one day—
When bowed at eve for penison,
Grant that upon the uphill way
Our passing smile has gladdened
one.

On this one day,

Magazine."

Everybody Invited to the Charity Tea
There will be a Charity Tea at the Woman's club house on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the Philanthropy department of the Woman's club. It will be a pleasant social occasion and is not limited to the club members
at all. There will be an informal musical program and light refreshments will be served. A free-will offering of ten cents will be made at the door for the Charity club's fund.
The club has done a noble work this winter and the demands upon it are heavy, especially with weather like
the present, so the money is very much needed. The public is cordially invited to come out to the Charity Tea and help make the free-will offering as large as possible, as well as to enjoy each other. The "touch of pity makes the whole world kin."

Pretty Japanese Dinner Party.

Mrs. Katherine Beck entertained with a pretty Japanese dinner party
last evening at her home, 224 North Sixth street. The guests were the members of the senior class of the Paducah High school comprising the Phi Delta Gamma sorority and were: Misses Albee Dreyfus, Clara

Smith Julia Dabney, Allie D. Foster.
They wore the Japanese costume and the Japanese idea was effectively carried out in all the details of the prettily planned dinner.

The room was lighted by three large Japanese lanterns suspended
over the center of the table. The table was low and the guests reclined
on cushions during the meal. Japanese fashion. The color scheme was blue and gold, the class colors. A Japanese vase of yellow chrysanthemums
on a blue mat was the centerpiece.
Japanese napkins decorated in chrysanthemums were used. The place cards were hand-painted Japanese figures, the clever work of Will Rock, brother of the hostess. The names of the guests were lettered Japanese style
down the cards with Cass of 1909 in one corner. The dinner was served on pretty blue and gold china, and in the last course the cake was arranged in large yellow chrysanthemums. The menu was delightfully Japanese as follows:

Chop Suey
Ham and Salad.
Rice, Raisins and Wafers.
Sardines, Bread, Butter, Pickles,
Tea and Sandwiches.
Jap Sney and Cake.

After dinner, the evening was most pleasantly spent. A guessing contest
of advertisements from the magazines
was a feature of amusement. Dainty Japanese pictures were given each guest as souvenirs.

Pretty Entertainment For Newell
Society.

Mrs. Edward H. Brighthouse entertained the Newell Society of the Broadway Methodist church on Monday afternoon at her home, 620 Kentucky avenue. It was a delightful and informal social occasion. The young women brought their embroidery and each one was required to tell a joke. The judges awarded the prizes for the best joke to Miss Lillie May McGathery. It was a pretty gold hat pin. A delightful course luncheon was served during the afternoon. Mrs. Harry Campbell, of Memphis, Tenn., who is visiting Mrs.
Mable Lou McGathery, was an out-
of-town guest.

Mrs. Brighthouse is the president of the Newell Society, which is composed of 30 young matrons and girls.
The society has done a splendid work
in the Broadway Methodist church
since its organization about five years ago. It is named for the late Rev. T. J. Newell, who was at that time pastor of the church. Last
year the society bought and paid for
a fine piano for the Sunday school.

This year the society has nearly completed a $100 payment on the debt
of the church. The officers and
members are:

Mrs. Edward Brighthouse, president; Miss Hattie Wiley, vice-president; Miss Pearl Barry, secretary;

SCOURING YOUR SCALP.

Will Remove the Loose Dandruff
Scalps But It Won't Cure
Dandruff.

If your hair is brittle and thinning,
you have dandruff. The mere scouring of the scalp of the loose scales,
won't cure dandruff; because dandruff is nothing but scales of scalp being thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality, causing falling hair and, in time, baldness. Now you can't stop dandruff nor falling hair, nor prevent baldness unless you destroy that germ
and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery Newbro's Herpicide. In fact no other hair preparation claims to kill the dandruff germ—all of them will clean
the scalp; soap and water will do
that, but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the trouble and kills the dandruff germ. Sold by leading druggists. Two sizes, 50c.
and $1.00. Send 10c. in stamps for
sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit,

Matinee Musical Club Piano Recital.

One of the most attractive musical events of the season was featured Wednesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Matinee Musical club
at the Woman's club building. It was a Two-Piano recital and the program was arranged by Miss Newell
and Miss Puryear. It was both delightful and artistic in every detail
and some of Paducah's most notable musical artists took part.

The opening number was a quartet,
the "Wedding March," from
"Mid Summer Night Dream," by Mendelssohn, a trio played by Misses Lucile Blackard, Ella Wilhelm, Kate Crumbaugh and Mrs.
Robinson. The Duo-Concerto in A Minor, from Grieg, was charmingly
given by Mrs. Frank Burns and Miss Ray, T. J. Newell, who was at that time pastor of the church. Last
year the society bought and paid for
a fine piano for the Sunday school.

This year the society has nearly completed a $100 payment on the debt
of the church. The officers and
members are:

Mrs. Edward Brighthouse, president; Miss Hattie Wiley, vice-presi-
dent; Miss Pearl Barry, secretary;

Mrs. George H. Hart, Mrs. Upton
Miss Puryear and Miss Letha Pur-

year, was another notable number of the program. The Duo—"Unfinished Symphony," from Schubert, was sympathetically played by Mrs. Har-and Miss Lulu Reed in conclusion. A large number of visitors and club
members were in attendance.

Dance for Mr. and Mrs. Whitman.

Mr. R. L. Harris and Mr. Jeanman
Wilkinson were the hosts of a delightful dance given on Thursday
evening at the Three Links building,
in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Whiteman, who have just returned from their bridal trip. Quite a number of formal invitations had been issued and the occasion was a largely attended and enjoyable one.

L'ENVOI OF THE BANTERS.

When Earth's last hip has been banished and the seasons are all taken in.

When the stoutest woman is slender,
and the fattest lady is thin,
We shall rest—and faith, we shall need it—let up for a minute or two.

Then those that are thin shall be happy, they shall sit in compla-
cent ease;

And eat whatever they want to, and
drink whatever they please.

They shall have real candles to munch on, till sweetness shall fairly pall.

They shall doze for an hour at a sitting, and never get fat at all.

And not a modeste shall blame us,
and not a masseuse revile;

And no one shall bant for fashion,
and no one shall starve for style.

But each, in a calm contentment,
with no treatment to undergo,
Shall eat and sleep as she wants to,
for the Goddess of Shapes as they grow.

ing Post.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Falling Hair

Dandruff

Ayer's Hair Vigor promptly destroys the germs
that cause falling hair. It nourishes the hairfollicles, restores them to health. The hair drops falling out, grows more rapidly.

Ayer's Hair Vigor just as promptly destroys the acids that cause dandruff. It removes every trace of dandruff black, and keeps the scalp
clean and in a healthy condition.

We wish you to positively and distinctly understand that Ayer's Hair Vigor does not affect the color of the hair, even in the slightest degree.

Daily Thought.
"If in the smallest way you are trying to help somebody, then you have become a co-worker with God."

Philadelphia has a steel and concrete enclosed baseball park. The enclosure without loopholes marks the decadence of the national game.

Cleveland's chief of police, by what he calls his "golden rule policy"—not giving prison records to first and minor offenders—has reduced the number of arrests in 1908 to 10,085 from 30,418 in 1907. Something in a policy that works that way.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER.
Ehhu Root is quoted as taking the view contrary to Governor Hughes on the subject of the direct primary for United States senator. He says: "I am opposed to the direct nomination of senators, as I am to the initiative and referendum, because they carry a confession that our legislators are not trusted. If the people of the states are not satisfied with their legislators competent to perform the duties of this great commonwealth."

That is not a valid reason for opposing direct primaries. What should a representative of the people in the legislature ask more than that the people should instruct him for whom they desire him to vote? Mr. Root cannot put his objection on the ground that the people are not fit to select a senator; for that would be equivalent to saying they are not fit to select members of the legislature. The plain trouble with Mr. Root's position is that he has taken sides with the machine politicians. They do not like the western brand of popular primary under state management. Governor Hughes has been fighting just that kind of politicians with the people behind him, and he has always won. We believe that eventually he will secure the popular primary. Mr. Root and the politicians to the contrary, notwithstanding. It may take longer to get the new-fangled western notion into operation in the old staid east, but it will come.

STRANGE LOGIC.

It is difficult to follow the logic of half the members of the Joint License committee of the general council. All three of them voted for the license ordinance; one of them was a member of the finance committee, which reported the apportionment ordinance, and all three of them voted for it. We commend their courage in admitting that they did wrong, when they voted for the license ordinance; but we cannot help wondering whether they discovered their error before or after they voted for the apportionment ordinance. The latter calls for appropriations equaling the anticipated revenue, based on the tax rate and the schedules of the license ordinance, they now wish to amend. Of course, if their recommendation is followed and the license ordinance is cut, there will be a big deficit in the city's funds before the end of the year.

If the gentlemen were narrow partisans, we would suspect they were helping expenses on the city this year and cutting down the revenue.

In order to embarrass the administration. If they were not so brave as to thus acknowledge that they did very wrong, and acted unwisely and inconsiderately and unjustly, when they voted for the license ordinance, we might suspect that they are afraid and will under criticism.

We can understand the position of the other three members. They voted for the license ordinance. The apportionment ordinance was devised to carry the revenue anticipated from the license schedules. They voted for that, and in the interest of the city, and for the sake of consistency, they now vote to stand by their guns.

We believe a majority of the general council also will stand by the ordinance. Any member, who does not, acknowledges error on his own part; for every member of the present general council voted for the apportionment ordinance, and thereby approved the expenditure of revenue provided in the license ordinance.

The new capitol is to have bronze pulls. Heretofore most capitol pulls have been principally brass.

Christina Rudowitz, the Russian political prisoner, whom Secretary Root refused to return for trial, when freed from jail at Chicago exclaimed: "Long Live America, Home of the Free!" Somehow we fail to thrill at his words. We cannot forget that Rudowitz murdered women and plundered their homes. We pity people, who can not understand freedom as we understand it, but we dislike to hear them call this the home of the kind of freedom they mean. The first time Christina starts anything like that in America, he will learn something about the home of the free, he did not appreciate at first.

SOME STORIES

AROUND TOWN

It is told of James Coyle, an employee of the city engineering department, that he does not know the difference between an owl and a chicken. Several days ago Mr. Coyle went to market, and he spied a farmer with a coop of fat chickens. He advanced to the tiller of the stall and said: "How much is that chicken?" using his finger to designate an especial one. The farmer had caught an owl and had it in the coop, and Mr. Coyle pointed to it. "Excitedly the farmer said: 'Why, yer city feller that's no chicken, that's an owl.' Mr. Coyle didn't understand the word 'owl,' and then looking up said: 'I do not care how old she is, I want that chicken.'"

Fortune telling is a new basis for the swearing out of warrants, as is proved by Magistrate Charles W. Emery. Several days ago a negro woman entered the office of the magistrate and said: "Squire, I wanta to get out a warrant for my man." Then she recited a tale of sorrow; how she had been abused and at length they had separated. She claimed he had taken some of her property, and she wanted to swear out a warrant to have her husband arrested and have the property returned. Magistrate Emery wrote the warrant and then asked her who the witnesses were, and how she had found out he had the property. Excitedly the woman said: "My lord-a-merey, cutle, I done went to de fortune teller and she predicted to me dat Sam had de goods."

The Louisville Times says: "Speaking about handwriting which is hard to read, an old-time conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad told a story about James Guthrie. Mr. Guthrie, besides being secretary of the treasury, under James Buchanan, was also president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and a resident of Louisville. In the early days of railroading there were no printed passes as at present, and Mr. Guthrie would frequently write a pass for a friend on a scrap of paper. The conductors on the road would honor these, of course, but one farmer carried a piece of paper, purporting to be a pass for a friend on a scrap of paper. The conductor honored it, he grew suspicious, and one day took it up. He carried it to the office of President Guthrie and said: "A farmer has been riding on this pass for about a year; do you want him to continue to use it?" President Guthrie put on his glasses, looked the paper over carefully, and said: "Why, this is not a pass. It is a receipt I gave the fellow for a load of wood about a year ago."

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, Jan. 30.—Some irregularity continues in the industrial and mercantile activity. The fundamental factor of strength is the steadily multiplying evidence that stocks are so depleted as to render a large and general resumption of the nation's industries inevitable and measurably nearer as confidence is restored. There are numerous reports of enlarged industrial activity at widely scattered points throughout the west and south and distributors and merchants in all lines anticipate a slow but steady return to the normal volume of transactions. The uncertainty regarding the ultimate tendency of prices of finished iron and steel restricts improvement in the general trade and the volume of new business is still disappointing, although January is usually a dull month. Concessions in quotations are not large, but the fact that they are becoming more general has a disturbing effect.

In the dry goods market traders are apparently more convinced of the stability of the situation and are anxious to cover some future requirement. Advances from the west indicate an exceptionally heavy spring trade if the depletion of stock is to be replaced to normal supply. In the men's wear field certain lines of woollens are being ordered with considerable freedom.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

About Children.
The importance of vaccination at this time is such that I must insist on every pupil not having a good scar, be vaccinated by their family physician before Monday. This is intended for their protection, and not complied with will be vaccinated at the schools. I hope the parents will co-operate with the health department in having their children vaccinated by their family physician. Also every family having a colored nurse in the home. Have your baby vaccinated and inquire as to their home surroundings.

LICENSE NOTICE

To Retail Dealers

Injunction proceedings have been prepared by attorneys E. B. Harbor and E. Wilson to be filed in the Circuit Court on Monday, Feb. 2, in behalf of the retail dealers to contest the validity of the License Ordinance of 1909. This action will suspend the operation of the ordinance in respect to all retail dealers of every kind and will relieve them from the payment of the license fees claimed thereunder until the matter has been passed upon by the courts. This action is intended to protect not only the hundred or more merchants whom we, as a committee, represent, but all other retail dealers who prefer to await the decision of the courts.

Chapter Thirty-three

VOLSEN forgave Sophy its dead and wounded sons. Her popularity blazed up in a last fierce flickering fire. The guns were taken; they would go to Slavia; they would never batter the walls of Volsen into fragments. Slavia might be defied again. That was the great thing to Volsen, and it made little account of the snake-like blue which crawled over St. Peter's pass and down to Dobrava and on to Slavia. Let Slavia-hated Slavia-reckon with that! And if the snake or another like it came to Volsen? Well, that was better than knocking down to Slavia. Tonight King Sorlus was avenged, and Queen Sophy had returned in victory!

For the first time since the king's death the bell of the ancient church rang joyously, and men sang and feasted in the gray city of the hills. Thirty from Volsen had beaten a hundred from Slavia; the guns were at the bottom of the Kruth; it was enough. If Sophy had killed them, they would have streamed down on Slavia that night in one of those three rails in which their forefathers of the middle ages had loved to swoop upon the plain.

But Sophy had no delusions. She saw her crown—that fleeting phantom of ambition, flitting foreseen in the visions of a charlatan—passing from her brow without a sigh. She had not needed Dunstanbury's arguments to prove to her that there was no place for her left in Kravonia. She was content to have it so; she had done enough. Sorrow had not passed from her face, but severity had come upon it in fuller measure. She had struck for monseigneur, and the blow was witness to her love. It was enough in her and enough in little Volsen. Let the mightier avengers do the rest!

She had allowed Dunstanbury to leave her after supper in order to make preparations for a start to the frontier at dawn. "You must certainly go," she had said, "and perhaps I'll come with you."

She went at night up on to the wall, always her favorite place. She loved the spaciousness of air and open country before her there. Had Williamson found her deep in thought when he came to tell her of the progress of the wounded?

"They're all doing well, and Peter Volsen will live. Dunstanbury has made him promise to come to him when he's recovered, so you'll meet him again at all events. And Marie Zerkovitch and her husband talk of settling in Paris. You won't lose all your Kravonian friends?"

"You assume that I'm coming with you tomorrow morning?"

"I'm quite safe in assuming that Dunstanbury won't go unless you do," he answered, smiling. "We can't leave you alone here, you know."

"I shouldn't say here anyhow," she said, "or at any rate I should be where nobody could hurt me." She pointed at a dim lantern fastened to the gate tower by an iron clamp, then waved her hand toward the surrounding darkness. "There's life, isn't it?" she asked.

"If I believed that I could go to monseigneur, I would go tonight—nay, I would have gone at Miklevai. It was only putting my head out of that ditch a minute sooner! If I believed even that I could be in the church there and know that he was near! If I believed even that I could lie there quietly and remember and think of him! You're a man of science; you're not a peasant's child, as I am. What do you think? You wouldn't wonder that I've had my thoughts too. At Lady Meg's we did little else than try to find out whether we were going anywhere else. That's all she cared about. And if she does ever get to a next world she won't care about that. She'll only go on trying to find out whether there's still another beyond. What do you think?"

"I hardly expected to find you so philosophically inclined," he said.

"It's a practical question with me now. On its answer depends whether I come with you or stay here—by monseigneur in the church."

He said something professional—something about nerves and temporary strain. But he performed this homage to medical etiquette in a rather perfunctory fashion. He had never seen a woman more composed or more obviously and perfectly healthy. Sophy smiled and went on:

"But if I live, I'm sure at least of being able to think and able to remember. It comes to a gamble, doesn't it? It's just possible I might get more; I'm quite likely—I think it's probable—I should lose even what I have now."

"I think you're probably right about the chances of the gamble," he told her, "though no doubt certainty is out of place or at least one doesn't talk about it. Shall I tell you what science says?"

"No," said Sophy, smiling faintly. "Science thinks in multitudes, and I'm thinking of the individual tonight. Even Lady Meg never made much of science, you know."

He pointed at the smoky lantern. "That's not life," he said, growing more earnest, yet smiling. "That's now—just here and now—and, yes, it's very smoky." He waved his hand over the darkness. "That's the Dark? Yes, but the night will lift, the darkness pass away. Valley and sparkling lake will be there and the summit of the heaven kissing hills. Life cries to you with a sweet voice."

"Yes," she murmured, "with a sweet voice. And perhaps some day there would be light on the hills. But, ah, I'm torn in sunder this night. I wish I had died there at Miklevai while my blood was hot." She paused a long while in thought. Then she went on: "If I go, I must go while it's still dark and while these good people sleep. Go and tell Lord Dunstanbury to be ready to start an hour before dawn and do you and be come then to the door of the church. If I'm not waiting for you there, come inside and find me."

He started toward her with an eager gesture of protest. She raised her hand and checked him.

"No, I've decided nothing. I can't tell yet," she said. She turned and left him. He heard her steps descending the old winding stair which led from the top of the wall down into the street. He did not know whether he would see her alive again, and with her message of such ambiguous meaning he went to Dunstanbury. Yet curiously, though he had pleaded so urgently with her, though to him her death would mean the loss of one of the beautiful things from out the earth, he was in no distress for her and did not dream of attempting any constraint. She knew her strength—she would choose right. If life were tolerable, she would take up the burden. If not, she would let it be unlifted at her quiet feet.

His mood could not be Dunstanbury's, who had come to count her presence as the light of the life that was his. Yet Dunstanbury heard the message quietly and quietly made every preparation in obedience to her bidding. That done, he sat in the little room of the inn and smoked his pipe with Basil. Henry Brown waited his word to take the horses to the door of the church. Basil Williamson had divined his friend's feeling for Sophy and wondered at his calmness.

"If I felt the doubt that you do, I shouldn't be calm," said Dunstanbury. "But I know her. She will be true to her love."

He could not be speaking of that love of hers which was finished, whose end and she was now mourning in the little church. It must be of another love that he spoke—of one loved in her heart, the outcome of her temperament and of her being the woman that she was. The spirit which had brought her to Slavia had made her play her part there.

"You assume that I'm had welcomed coming with you to—did I catch at 'tomorrow morning'?" every change and chance of fortune, led never laid down the sword till the blow was struck—that spirit would preserve her and give her back to life now and some day give life back to her.

He was right. When they came to the door of the church she was there. For the first time since monseigneur had died her eyes were red with weeping, but her face was calm. She gave her hand to Dunstanbury.

"Come, let us mount," she said. "I have said go."

Lukovich knew Dunstanbury's plans. He was waiting for them at the gate, his arm in a sling, and with him were the Zerkovitches. These last they would see again. It was probably farewell forever to radiant Lukovich. He kissed the silver ring on Sophy's finger.

"I brought nothing into Kravonia," she said, "and I carry nothing out except this ring which monseigneur put on my finger—the ring of the faithful of Volsen."

"Keep it," said Lukovich. "I think there will be no more faithfuls of Volsen, or some price out of our choosing will take the title by his own will. It will not be our fault, as monseigneur was. You will be our faithful, though our eyes never see you, and you never see our old gray walls again. Madame, have a kindly place in your heart for Volsen. We shall forget you not the blow we struck under your leadership. The fight at Miklevai may well be the last that we shall fight as free men."

"Volsen is written on my heart," she answered. "I shall not forget."

She bade her friends farewell and then ordered Lukovich to throw open the gate. She and the three Englishmen rode through, Henry Brown leading the pack horse by the bridle. The mountains were growing gray with the first approaches of dawn.

As she rode it was probably farewell forever to Lukovich. She paused a moment, leaned sideways in her saddle and kissed the ancient lintel of the door.

"Peace be on this place," she said, "and peace to the town where monseigneur lies buried."

"Peace be on thy head and fortune with thee," answered Lukovich in the traditional words of farewell. He kissed her hand again, and they departed.

It was high morning when they rode up the ascent to St. Peter's pass and came to the spot where their cross track joined the main road over the pass from Dobrava and the capital. In silence they mounted to the summit. The road under their horses' feet was trampled with the march of thousands of men who had passed over it in an irresistible advance on Slavia.

At the summit of the pass they stopped, and Sophy turned to look back. She sat there for a long while in silence.

"I have loved this land," at last she said. "It has given me much, and very much it has taken away. Now the face of it is to be changed. But in my heart the memory of it will not change." She looked across the valley, across the sparkling face of Lake Taid, to the gray walls of Volsen and kissed her hand. "Farewell, monseigneur!" she whispered very low.

The day of Kravonia was done. The head of the great snakes had reached Slavia. Countess Ellenburg and young Alexis were in flight. Stenior took orders where he had looked to rule. The death of monseigneur was indeed avenged. But there was no place for Sophy, the queen of a tempestuous hour.

They set their horses' heads toward the frontier. They began the descent on the other side. The lake was gone, the familiar hills vanished. Only in the eye of memory stood old Volsen still set in its gray mountains. Sophy rode forth from Kravonia in her sheepskins and her silver ring, the last queen of Kravonia, the last faithful of Volsen, the last chosen leader of the mountain men. But the memory of the red star still shined in the eyes of Volsen.

She looked across the valley, across the sparkling face of Lake Taid, to the gray walls of Volsen and kissed her hand. "Farewell, monseigneur!" she whispered very low.

The day of Kravonia was done. The head of the great snakes had reached Slavia. Countess Ellenburg and young Alexis were in flight. Stenior took orders where he had looked to rule. The death of monseigneur was indeed avenged. But there was no place for Sophy, the queen of a tempestuous hour.

They set their horses' heads toward the frontier. They began the descent on the other side. The lake was gone, the familiar hills vanished. Only in the eye of memory stood old Volsen still set in its gray mountains. Sophy rode forth from Kravonia in her sheepskins and her silver ring, the last queen of Kravonia, the last faithful of Volsen, the last chosen leader of the mountain men. But the memory of the red star still shined in the eyes of Volsen.

At the summit of the pass they stopped, and Sophy turned to look back. She sat there for a long while in silence. "I have loved this land," at last she said. "It has given me much, and very much it has taken away. Now the face of it is to be changed. But in my heart the memory of it will not change." She looked across the valley, across the sparkling face of Lake Taid, to the gray walls of Volsen and kissed her hand. "Farewell, monseigneur!" she whispered very low.

France's Slow Effacement.
If France's productivity in material things were much diminished the construction would be obvious that her prosperity were waning. But the fact is that France not only produces and sells, but saves. Her earnings are her savings of war and are those of her neighbors—even of her possible enemies. Without the money she saves and lends they could not maintain armies or make war.

A nation, however, that, in a national sense, ceases to reproduce itself and to grow, and which is content to be rich, fat and beyond want, like an amputant, lives really for strangers. At first sight the amputant seems to command the earnings of others that he may live at ease. In the final analysis, his capital has gone to enrich those who actually use it and who, with their descendants, will continue to use it and to profit by it, after he is dead and gone. It may be so with France. Philadelphia Times.

Wind on River

More damage and delay to the river property and steamboat traffic has been done so far by the present storm than in any other storm that has been known for several years. The storm this morning was even worse than yesterday morning, and continues to hold out. The cold wind this morning in contact with the water made the river look as if it was boiling. The fog made it impossible to see more than a few feet on the river. All boats that were due in Friday night and since then, have not showed up in the Paducah port and no boats are expected in till the storm subsides. Charley, the sand digger, was blown loose from its moorings last night and was taken up stream from below the dry docks to the wharfboat by the strong wind. The sand digger was landed just below the wharf and tied safe to the bank. She was not damaged any. The City of Memphis, which was blown across the river yesterday, is tied up in a safe harbor from the wind. She landed against a bed of willows and was not damaged in the least. Several barges have been torn loose from their moorings, but all have been safely landed and tied without a great deal of damage.

POST DENOUNCES BRADLEY'S PLANS

Says it Would Shackle Republicans of Cities.

Plan for State Commission to Control Nominations in First and Second Class.

DETAILS OF ARRANGEMENT

Louisville, Jan. 30.—The Evening Post, which never has been in sympathy with Senator-elect W. O. Bradley, declares that Senator Bradley's
new plan for control of Republican nominations in counties, containing
cities of the first and second class—
Jefferson, Kenton, Campbell, Fayette and McCracken—is intended to take away local self-management
from Republicans of Louisville, Covington, Newport, Lexington and Paducah, and vest control in a commission named by the state central committee. It is understood that J. C.
Speight, of Mayfield, committeeman
from the first district, opposes it.

Mr. Bradley sprung his plan at a meeting of a sub-committee of the state central committee, which met at the Seelbach hotel. This subcommittee was appointed on motion of Mr. Bradley at the last meeting of the state central committee in the form of a very innocent resolution,
to-wit: That a sub-committee be named to make some suggestions
relative to the holding of Republican conventions in the large cities of the state so that they might be less turbulent. Upon this committee were named Mr. Bradley, Judge McD.
Shaw, of Covington, and Mr. Jesse Speight, of Mayfield.

When Judge Shaw and Mr. Speight
arrived at the meeting they found that Mr. Bradley had been accompanied to the meeting by Mr. M. H.
Thatcher.

Mr. Bradley announced his intention of bringing it before the state
central committee and asking that body to adopt it. Judge Shaw and Mr. Speight stated that they would not recommend the plan, and a letter was, therefore, written and sent to the state central committee stating that the committee was divided.

Mr. Bradley has, however, asked Mr.
Robert H. Winn, of Mt. Sterling, to call a special meeting of that committee to consider his plan.

When seen at the Seelbach hotel
Judge McD. Shaw, who is the Republican circuit judge at Covington
and a man of the highest standing,
said he had very little to say about the Bradley plan, except to state that he wished everybody to understand that he opposed it in every particular and considered it ruinous. Judge Shaw said that it means to take

large cities the power to make their

Treating The Wrong Disease

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality they are all only symptoms caused by some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made.
The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system.

It is made of native American medicinal roots without the use of alcohol and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated
teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seam-
stresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled
as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerv-

EVERY WOMAN ought to possess Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only; or send 31 stamps for a handsome cloth-bound

own nominations and to govern their own affairs and to put everything in the hands of a commission to be named by the state central committee.

Details of Bradley Plan.

To understand the far-reaching nature of the plan proposed by Mr.
Bradley to abolish the Republican committees in all the cities of the state, a little past history should be recalled. The Republicans of Kentucky chose their party committees
all over the state, April 25, 1908, on the same day delegates were chosen
to the Kentucky state convention,
which instructed for Taft.

In Louisville, in Lexington, in Covington and Newport and in other places the Republicans chose their own committees.

Mr. Bradley's plan is practically to abolish his committee and to substitute for it a commission to make all Republican nominations in Louisville.
The Bradley plan is to make the control a permanent affair. Bradley's commission is to be appointed annually. This commission is to have entire charge of all matters
pertaining to the making of nominations, including the appointing of all election officers, the canvassing of returns, the making of rules.

The main details of the Bradley
plan are given as follows:

First—The plan applies to counties containing cities of the first and
second class.

Second—The present Republican
committees in these counties, which were elected by the people, are to be entirely superseded.

Each county is divided into convention districts, each district to contain not exceeding six entire contiguous precincts in cities and towns,
and the county outside of the cities
to be divided into four such districts.
Such division shall be made in each county by a committee to be appointed for that purpose; and detailed report of such division shall be made to the state central committee within fifteen days, and opportunity shall be given for exceptions thereto to be filed. Such exceptions shall be heard and thereupon the state central committee shall adopt in whole or in part or modify the report.

Each such convention district shall be a unit of representation, and shall select delegates to the central or nominating convention without regard to the action of any other similar district convention. All such district conventions shall be held on the same day, during the same hours;
namely, from 10 o'clock till 4 o'clock,
thus, allowing ample opportunity to voters to participate therein.

For each such county the state
central committee shall annually appoint a commission of three Republicans to be known as the "county Republican convention commission." No person shall be eligible for such appointment who is a candidate for any
office, or who holds any public office, either appointive or elective. This commission for each county shall select officers for the district conventions herein provided for, and shall superintend the printing of all tickets
or ballots to be used in voting in the district conventions, and shall preserve the ballot boxes, ballots, convention rolls and district convention
records.

This commission corresponds to the county board of election commissioners under the law now appointed by the state board. The purpose of this commission is to provide for the selection of district convention officers in the fairest manner possible,
and by Republicans of the county
who may be as free as possible from any partisan or factional affiliations.

To Control Conventions.

In all cases where there is any
contest in the selection of delegates
to any nominating convention,
whether state, district, county or city, and where a primary election is not desired, the Republican county executive committee shall direct the holding of these district conventions
for the purpose of having selected by the voters delegates to the nominating conventions.

In such districts where there are no contests for delegates the county
executive committee shall declare as the duly selected delegates the unopposed candidate.

The call for any nominating convention shall be made at least 30 days before the same is held, and immediately thereupon the county
executive committee shall issue its call for the holding of district conventions within five days of the date
on which the nominating convention
is held.

The basis of delegate representation shall be one delegate for each 100 votes or major fraction thereof
cast in each convention district for the Republican candidates for presidential electors at the last preceding presidential election.

To Name Officers.

Not later than 10 days before the
holding of such district convention,
the candidates of each delegate ticket
to be voted therein may file with the Republican county convention commission a list of five voters eligible to vote under these rules, to serve as convention officers of the district
wherein such candidates are to be selected; and not later than 10 days

before the holding of such district
convention, said commission shall select from said lists as officers to open,
hold and conduct each such convention, a clerk, a sheriff and two tellers.
The commission is directed to give to each bona fide ticket as nearly as may be practicable equal representation in the selection of such officers, and to
so alternate in making the selection
as to give as nearly as may be possible equal representation to each interest represented in the nominating convention.

No person shall be selected as an officer of any district convention
who is not at the time of his selection qualified to vote therein under these rules; or who may be a candidate for delegates or alternate in any district convention, or who holds any elective or appointive office. The tellers shall have the right to challenge, and upon their failure to agree, touching any person's right to vote, the sheriff shall decide.

Places for holding these district
conventions shall be selected by the county executive committee at some central and convenient location at least five days before the holding of such conventions. Each convention shall be held in a room or hall on the ground floor with ample entry
way for voters, with all rear and side openings closed. No such convention place shall be in any building or upon any premises wherein or whereon
spiruous, vicious or malt liquors are sold, furnished or stored.

These district conventions shall
open at 10 o'clock in the morning
and close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, standard time.

Ballot Boxes, Ballots, Etc.

The county executive committee
shall provide ballot boxes for the district conventions, in registration districts it shall also provide copies of the last preceding registration there-
in; and in non-registration districts
it shall provide books wherein shall be recorded the names of persons voting or offering to vote. At least 10 days before the holding of the district conventions there shall be furnished to the convention commission
a list of each bona fide ticket of candidates for delegates to be voted for
in each convention, and the deposit
of a sum sufficient to pay for the printing of tickets shall be made with said commission.

All tickets shall be printed under the direction of the commission, and
shall be on plain white paper, of uniform size and shape, in black ink,
and of such dimension as the commission shall determine. Thickness of the paper and the printing of the tickets shall be such as to render it impossible to know what ticket is being voted when properly folded. The failure to make such deposit shall preclude any candidate from the privilege of being voted for. This and other rules direct that all voting
in district conventions shall be by so-called ballot.

Not later than 10 days before the
holding of district conventions, persons who may desire to have voted for therein tickets of candidates for delegates shall deposit with the county executive committee such a sum as may be by said committee
determined to be the pro-rata amount
due from such ticket for the payment of the total expenses of such
district conventions and the nominating convention. A failure to make such deposit shall preclude such ticket from being voted for.

Calls for the nominating and district conventions, names of district
convention officers, places for holding district conventions, etc., shall be published in a Republican daily paper in the county. If such paper be so published; otherwise in any daily
paper having a general circulation
in the county.

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

The combination of healthful vegetable ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, makes it an especially desirable and effective remedy in the treatment of sores and ulcers of every kind. Since an impure condition of the blood is responsible for the trouble, a medicine that can purify the blood is the only hope of a successful cure; and it should be a medicine that not only cleanses the circulation, but one that at the same time restores the blood to its normal, rich, nutritive condition. S. S. S. is just such a remedy. It is made entirely of healing, cleansing vegetable properties, extracted from nature's roots, herbs and barks of the forest and fields. It has long been recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, possessing the qualities necessary to remove every impurity in the blood. When S. S. S. has purified the circulation, and strengthened and enriched it, sores and ulcers heal readily and surely, because they are no longer fed and kept open by a continual discharge into them of irritating disease-laden matter from the blood. S. S. S.
brings about a healthy condition of the flesh by supplying it with rich, nourishing blood and makes a permanent and lasting cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice mailed free to all who write.

CAPITAL ROMANCE; CAPITOL CONTRACT

Young Painter Will take Bride to Paris With Him.

How Interior of Kentucky's New State Building Will Look on the Inside.

THE BEAUTIFUL FURNISHINGS

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 30.—The contract for the mural decorations of the new capitol was let to Gilbert White, of New York, who is one of the most promising young artists in America. He is a brother of Stewart Edward White, the noted writer, and a member of one of the most talented families in America. Not only did he close a contract with the commission but he also closed a contract with Miss Mary Geary, of New York, to be his bride about the middle of next month, and the happy young couple will go to Paris on their honeymoon, where Mr. White will paint the pictures under the eye of his old master. After securing the contract he called his bride-elect up over the telephone and told her of his good luck. As a result he is the happiest man in Kentucky, and she is the happiest young woman in New York.

The painting that will go on the lunette that leads to the house of representatives is that of Daniel Boone, standing with a number of pioneers on Capitol Hill overlooking the Kentucky river valley and the broad expanse of forests that lay in the stretch out in front of the group. The painting is in oil, blending harmoniously with the marble of the interior of the capitol, and the scene is supposed to have taken place at this close of the day.

The painting that will go over the lunette leading to the senate chamber is the reproduction of the making of the treaty between the Indians and Daniel Boone and Henderson and other pioneers for the Transylvania company, when the territory of Kentucky was purchased from the Indians. This is known as the treaty of Watauga river and the great Indian chief that will appear in the painting is "Dragging Canoe."

Mr. White said that the interior of this building is unlike any in this country, and that he had never seen anything in Europe to approach it except the old cathedrals. So beautiful and grand is this interior he said that he felt that it almost makes one have religious feelings when the building is entered.

The furnishings. After conferring the greater part of the capitol commission let the contract for the furnishing of the new capitol building. Of the money to be spent one-third of it goes to Kentucky, and two-thirds to outsiders. The contract for wood furnished, which includes desks, tables, chairs, etc., went to the Wollnager Manufacturing company, of Milwaukee, and this contract includes the Venetian blinds and book cases. The total bid of the Wollnager company was approximately $70,000, although this will be scaled down several thousand dollars by changes which will be made in the specifications. The book cases are to cost $2,000 and the blinds $2,500. The contract for carpets went to E. L. March, of Lexington, George Stehlin, of Frankfort, and McKnight & Sons, of Lexington, although their bid was not the lowest. The commission did not make any of the awards to the lowest bidders, but considered quality in everything and tried to get the best.

Wollnager was higher than any of the bidders on furniture except two, and they were the lowest on carpets. The bid for carpets was about $12,000. H. Rogers & Sons, of Frankfort, were awarded the contract for interior furnishings, their bid being about $12,000. This includes desks and stands for the speaker of the senate and the rostrum of the court of appeals. It also includes the railing in the court of appeals chamber and the wainscoting for the court of appeals chamber. The latter item amounts to about $4,000, the painting to be in mahogany. No contract for tapestries was let.

The capitol. When the capitol is furnished it will be one of the prettiest in the country. The governor's state reception room will be furnished in Louis XIV style including a mahogany table beautifully carved with a veneered top matched in center with diamond effect. There will be four large davenport in this room, all elaborately carved and covered with antique silk damask costing at wholesale $12 a yard.

Passing back into the governor's private office there will be in the center of this room a beautifully carved top desk made of the finest selected mahogany veneered, a desk that is pronounced by experts to be one of the finest that has ever been produced in this country. The governor's desk chair will be rotary in full leather with a medium high back, which is big enough to act as a head rest. The arm chairs in this room will be of the same type as the desk chairs, but with legs terminating in solid cast bronze feet.

There will be a book case with plate glass doors, with paneling and

EAT YOUR FAVORITE FOOD WITHOUT FEAR

Enjoy Your Meals Without Fear of Dyspepsia or an Upset Stomach.

If your meals don't tempt you, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating; if you are suffering from indigestion, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something for a sour stomach and indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat add in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sour your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nauseous breath, and stomach trouble of all kind; Puffing the intestines and digestive canal, causing such misery as Bloating, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—your are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapen will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking one Triangulo that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at your pharmacist any time you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapen will purify the stomach and most acid stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort of any kind of food you could eat.

carved pilasters to match the other furniture.

The governor's lobby and private secretary's room will have a roll-top mahogany desk with pearl pilasters, bronze feet and bronze pulls and beautifully selected mahogany veneers. There will also be a large flat top desk of the same general description in this room. The private secretary's desk chair will be a large and roomy full leather chair of the most comfortable description.

Other Offices. The furniture in the private offices of the secretary of state, auditor, attorney general, treasurer, lieutenant governor and speaker will all be of the same type as described for the governor's lobby and private secretary, except that the carpets for the secretary of state, auditor, librarian, attorney general and treasurer will not be of hand tufted axminster.

The board room between the secretary of state and the auditor's department will contain two large directors' tables each fifteen feet in length, twenty-four large upholstered chairs with bronze feet. The two large tables in this room will be fine examples of massive construction, but of simple design, resting on large bronze feet. The carpet in this room will be of royal or imported Wilton.

The working rooms of the secretary of state will be furnished with mahogany roll top desks, the same as those described in the board room, with large mahogany panels, massive but of simple design, with typewriter desks of the same general description as the roll top desks, and with a large table of simple but elegant pattern. The legs of all the furniture in this room will terminate in cast bronze feet and all drawers will have bronze pulls.

The library will be fitted up with steel bookcases finished in imitation mahogany, extending to the ceiling of the room. There will be a gallery extending around the room provided with hammered glass floors. There will be three large tables of beautifully selected mahogany—the grain of the top matched in diamond effect with solid ends handsomely carved and ornamented, and a number of large upholstered chairs. The librarian's room will have a mahogany rolled top desk fitted with finely selected veneers.

Court of Appeals. The court of appeals will have a high mahogany wainscoting carried entirely around the room. The judges' bench and clerk's desk will be of massive but simple design and the railings separating the bar from the public will be of solid mahogany with large carved balustrade. There will be a large, beautifully carved rotary chair for the chief justice, finely upholstered and with fine leathering, the back to be embossed with the seal of the state of Kentucky in gold leaf. There will be six associate justices' chairs of the same general design, but of slightly smaller dimensions. There will be handsome full leather chairs for the clerks, large and roomy arm chairs full upholstered for the attorneys, and outside the railing there will be twenty-eight handsomely upholstered arm chairs for the spectators. There will be four beautiful tables of large size and massive proportions with solid ends, handsomely carved. There will also be the speaker's stand or reading desk of handsome and appropriate design.

The carpet in the court of appeals

will be of Imperial Axminster made to cover the entire floor. The judges' robing room will have seven mahogany lockers of simple design, the plain surfaces to be veneered with finely selected woods. The judges' consultation room will contain a large mahogany table of the same design as the samples submitted by the successful bidder. The judges' chamber will contain seven rolled top desks of the same beautifully carved pattern as the flat top desks in the governor's private office.

Legislature. The senate and house will have presiding officers' and clerks' desks of mahogany as designed by the architect. The presiding officers' chairs will be very large and massive with beautifully carved mahogany woodwork and elaborately upholstered, the seal of the state of Kentucky being embossed in the backs in genuine gold. There will be two guests' chairs provided on the presiding officers' platform in each room. These chairs will be of the same general design as the presiding officers' chairs but with less ornamentation. The desks for the members of the house and senate will be of simple design, with rolled top.

The members' chairs will be of graceful design with leather spring seats, leather back and is to be almost an exact copy of the members' chairs used in the famous $13,900,000 capitol of the state of Pennsylvania. The floors of the house and senate will be carpeted in the finest Victoria or Imperial Wilton covering the entire lower surface.

The lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house will each have a large reception room with beautiful mahogany tables similar to the one described in the judges' consultation room.

The house and senate members will be provided with reception rooms with beautiful tables and luxurious davenport and easy chairs.

The ladies' reception room will be furnished in special colonial style. There will be a large round table, a sofa, which is an exact reproduction of a fine old colonial pattern, a number of chairs and rockers, which are also colonial reproductions, and an exquisite writing desk of harmonious design. This room will be provided with a hand tufted axminster rug woven in one piece.

All windows in the building except those in the governor's state reception room will be provided with sliding venetian blinds.

The governor's state reception room will have elaborate hangings made of antique silk damask to cost not less than $12 per yard, the seal of the state of Kentucky to be appended on same in gold, and elaborate gold fringe to be appended to the edges of the same.

In Admiralty.
Pursuant to an order entered in the U. S. District Court at Paducah, Ky., on the 22nd day of January, 1909, in the case of Douglas Jones, et al., vs. the Steamer Scotia, etc., I will on Tuesday, February 2nd, 1909, at the port of Paducah, Ky., at 10 o'clock a. m., sell to the highest and best bidder the steamer Scotia, her engines, tackle, apparel, furniture, fixtures, etc., for one-half cash in hand, the balance on a credit of three months with interest at 6 per cent. until paid. The purchaser to execute bond with good and approved security payable to the clerk of the court for the deferred payment, said bond to have the force and effect of a replevin bond at law, in addition to its being a bond in admiralty. The purchaser, if he chooses may pay the entire purchase price in cash.

COKE! COKE! COKE!

What IS Coke?

COKE is a pure high grade coal with smoke, soot, creosote and noxious gases removed, an almost pure and clean carbon. No chimneys burn out where coke is used.

Coke is fine for all kinds of grates, cook and heating stoves and furnaces.

Coke burns with a steady, clean, blue, hot flame. Coke will burn in fire-place grates and when banked (or covered) with a thin coating of ashes, will last all night.

Hundreds of Paducah people will testify as to its cheapness and desirability.

Price, delivered within one mile of gas works:

Lump, for furnaces, 9c per bushel, or $4.50 per ton

Crushed, for stove, fire places, etc., 10c per bushel or $5.00 per ton.

Two good basketball games were played last night in the double-header between the teams of the city basketball league. The Elks, Checker & Whist team held its record of not being defeated by winning from the D. A. D. quintet, while the Elks won from the Light & Power squad by the close score of 6 to 5. Both games were snappy and excited applause from the spectators.

At the end of the first half of the first game the Checker players had a score of 18, while the D. A. D. team had only 2. At the end of the game the score stood 33 to 3 in favor of the Chess players.

The second game was a tie at the end of the first half, each team with the credit of one score. In the second half the Elks made a score of six to the five points of the L. & P. Goodman was unimpaired and Well was time-keeper.

Two more double-headers will be played next week.

LIVESTOCK.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 30.—Cattle—Receipts 96; for the week thus far 2884. The attendance of buyers was light; demand limited; market very quiet; but little doing; the best heavy steady, others dull and drags. Fair inquiry for choice handy weight butchers and the best feeders and stockers, but all medium and inferior grades are hard to sell. But's slow; canners and cutters dull; milk cows unchanged. No heavy cattle on sale; feeling about steady. We quote shipping steers, $4.50@5.75; beef steers, $3.00@5.00; fat heifers and cows, $3.00@5.00; cutters, $2.00@3.00; canners, $1.00@2.00; bulls, $2.00@3.75; feeders, $3.00@4.75; stockers, $2.00@4.25; choice milk cows, $35.00@45.00; common to fair, $10.00@30.00.

Calves—Receipts 87; for the week thus far 538. The market ruled slow; bulk of best, 6 1/4 @ 7c; medium, 4 @ 6c; common, 2 1/2 @ 4c.

Hogs—Receipts 2,250; for the week thus far 11,390. The market ruled 5 @ 10c higher on choice corn-fed hogs from nearby points; 160 lbs. and up, $6.40; 130 to 160 lbs., $5.70; pigs, $4.75; light pigs, $4.00; roughs, $5.75 down. Buyers dwindle, cutting against hogs from doubtful positions, and refusing to buy them except under guarantee, wanting 20 per cent. off on all that kill soft or oily, but few hogs from doubtful sections selling.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts light; for the week thus far 222. The market ruled quiet; best lambs, 5 @ 6c; culls, 3 @ 5c; fat sheep, 4c down. No demand for common trashy stock.

St. Louis, Jan. 30.—Cattle—Receipts 1,500, including 500 Texans; steady; beef steers, $3.50@7.00; stockers and feeders, $3.65@5.20; cows and heifers, $3.50@6.40; Texan steers, $3.00@6.00; cows and heifers, $1.75@4.50; calves, in car loads, $4.75@8.00. Hogs—Receipts 9,500; 5c to 10c higher; pigs and lights, $4.25@6.25; packers, $6.00@6.25; butchers and best heavy, $6.15@6.50. Sheep—Receipts 600; steady; natives, $4.25@5.25; lambs, $4.75@7.55.

FEMALE STOGIE-MAKERS.

Polish Women, in All Sorts of Distasteful Places, Work Twisting Tobacco.

Jewish and American girls are in the garment factories of Pittsburgh, while Irish and German women, the hill-dwelling wives of the miners, hold the subordinate place in the trade. In the stogy industry the Polish women, some of them married and others immigrant girls, have the inferior and unpleasant work. The least desirable occupation for women in stogy factories is tobacco stripping, pulling the stems out of the moist leaves and weighing and tying them in pounds for the rollers. In tenement shops one may find the strippers in a cellar, their backs against a damp wall, working by the light of a flaring gas jet. In a large factory one will see them sitting in their low stalls, row behind row, stemming and weighing and throwing the waste to one side. "They would work all night," one foreman said, "if I would give them the chance. We never have any trouble with them; we can't give them enough work to do." They were married women in this case, but the rule holds good, and there is seldom trouble with the Polish hands in a stogy factory. They are there too much on sufferance for grievances to be worth their while.—Charities and Commons.

Is hypocrisy ever excusable? I think so. For instance, the interest that a young man pretends to take in a girl's family.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

OUR ANNUAL GREAT FEBRUARY MUSLIN UNDERWEAR SALE BEGINS MONDAY

IT is another interesting sale of women's and children's Muslin Underwear that happens only once a year, and then happens only here. Discriminating buyers will recognize the excellence of this Underwear on sight. The painstaking care of the maker is pronounced in every garment. Its purchase was a specially advantageous transaction, based on the quality and the price. While the purchase price was low in the extreme, it was not that alone that prompted us to consummate the deal, for it was the quality of the merchandise at the back of the price that influenced us most. The materials alone would cost you more money than we are selling the finished garments at. To prevent dealers from buying them up, and to be fair to everybody, only one 25c Gown or Long Skirt to each customer when buying other Muslin Underwear. We can offer you this Muslin Underwear opportunity only once a year, so come now and get your share. Six great lots now on sale at prices that competitors make no attempt to match.
